

A Score of Ideas

A companion book to everyone's instrumental tutor

A new book by Ros McMillan

This book is designed for beginning instrumentalists, current students and advanced players who would like to improvise and compose.

A Score of Ideas can be used as a companion book to supplement instrumental tutor and band books. It will assist music teachers to help their students experience creative activities.

20 ideas to explore

Investigate concepts based on the fundamental elements of music:

rhythm	expression
tempo	dynamics
pitch	duration
tone	form
phrasing	articulation

20 performance activities to do

Each idea includes a practical performance activity, designed to help students experience the creative idea being explored.

"A Score of Ideas... the very essence of what good music teaching practice is all about."

Gary McPherson

Ormond Professor and Head, School of Music

The University of Melbourne
